SUMMARY

This is a recommendation to settle for $29,000 a claim for damages filed by Patricia Artiago, whose home was damaged by sewage that flowed into her home from a sewer line maintained by the County.

LEGAL PRINCIPLES

A public entity is liable for injuries caused by a dangerous condition of its property, if the property was in a dangerous condition at the time of the injury, the injury was caused by the dangerous condition, the dangerous condition created a foreseeable risk of the type of injury that was suffered, and the public entity had actual or constructive notice of the dangerous condition.

A public entity is liable under the law of inverse condemnation for damage caused to property, when the damage was caused by a public improvement as deliberately designed and constructed by the public entity, whether or not the damage was foreseeable. Inverse condemnation liability can be based on an improper maintenance plan of the public entity. A prevailing plaintiff in an inverse condemnation action is entitled to an award of reasonable attorney's fees.

SUMMARY OF FACTS

On November 9, 2004, a County-maintained sewer line in Rowland Heights backed up into the lateral sewer line of Patricia Artiago. Raw sewage flooded into her bathroom and spread throughout the house. The County-maintained sewer line had become clogged by tree roots, which caused the sewage to travel into Ms. Artiago's lateral sewer line.

The sewage soaked and destroyed the carpet, linoleum, furniture, drapes and walls, and caused damage to various items of personal property.

The County had a preventative maintenance program in place in the neighborhood that consisted of semi-annual visual inspections of the sewer line. The sewer line had been inspected on September 29, 2004, and no stoppages in the sewer line were seen.

DAMAGES

Should this matter proceed to trial, we estimate the potential damages could be as follows:

Clean up services	$ 4,200
Damage to personal property	$ 8,000
Damage to real property	$ 27,602
Rental income	$ 800
Total	$ 40,602

The proposed settlement calls for the County to pay Ms. Artiago $29,000 for all of her claims for damages, costs and attorney's fees.

STATUS OF CASE

This matter is in the claim stage, and no expenses have been incurred.

EVALUATION

This is a claim of disputed liability. Should this matter become a lawsuit and proceed to trial, a jury could find that the County's sewer maintenance plan was defective, because the visual inspections were not sufficient to detect or prevent tree roots in the sewer line. If the jury finds that the plan was defective, the County could be liable under an inverse condemnation cause of action.

A reasonable settlement at this time will avoid litigation costs and a potential jury verdict that could exceed the proposed settlement.

We join with our third party administrator, Carl Warren and Company, in recommending a settlement of this matter in the amount of $29,000. The Department of Public Works concurs in the recommendation.
